Baldwin was a United States Navy tanker in commission from 1944 to 1947. Construction The ship was laid down at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard at Bremerton, Washington, by the Puget Sound Navy Yard. She was launched on 20 December 1943, and commissioned on 28 December 1944 with Lieutenant Harold R. Matthews, USCG, in command. Service history World War II, 1944-1945 After shakedown training in the waters of the Pacific Ocean off the coast of California, the ship carried fuel from the Imperial Oil Terminal at Oakland, California, to a number of forward areas of the Pacific War, including the Marshall Islands, Leyte, New Guinea, and the Marianas. Between November 1944 and September 1945, she shifted approximately 70,000 tons of fuel oil and lubricating oil. After the Japanese capitulation in August 1945, the ship shut down her engines to conserve fuel, and she reached San Francisco, California, on 22 September 1945. Post-war, 1945-1947 When World War II ended in August 1945, the ship was returned to her owners. She steamed in San Francisco harbor until she was transferred to the Naval Reserve and renamed USS John C. Baldwin. The ship was then assigned to one of the United States Navys Reserve fleets. The ship was decommissioned in 1947 and was berthed with the Pacific Reserve Fleet at Seattle, Washington. She was sold for scrapping in 1970 to Pittsburgh Steel and Wire Company and was beached at Suisun Bay, California, for scrapping.
